

APPLE READINESS REVIEW.

A fixed-price, fixed-time engagement with clear and relevant outcomes, backed by accredited Apple experts.

Apple Readiness Review is a 2-week engagement with a 4-day discovery and advisory workshop focused on understanding an organisations current Apple environment, advising on how they can manage and support at an enterprise scale.

Introducing the Apple Readiness Review

As part of this service, CDW will help to map business requirements with a discovery and advisory workshop. The research process can include audits, surveys, interviews, focus groups, and hands-on trials, all within the parameters of practical and financial considerations. Having examined different requirements, CDW correlates the findings with its extensive Apple knowledge to make evidence-based recommendations.

At the end of the engagement, organisations will receive a comprehensive readiness report which contains a summary of technological findings and recommendations along with suggested strategies for effectively scaling Apple technology.

The engagement ensures businesses can support their Apple users effectively while offering guidance as well as best practices for managing an Apple environment.

The engagement can help to save, time, effort, and money while proactively addressing potential risk factors, core architecture needs, and workflow refinement that can impact security and stability.

CDW combines onsite and remote services to:

- Provide Apple and industry best practices
- Assess IT infrastructure
- Mentor teams
- Provide immediate feedback
- Deliver a clear, focused readiness report with actionable recommendations
- Plan implementation milestones and next steps
- Deliver an Apple integration rating scorecard
